Best Detransformations In Bodybuilding

How often do you hear about detransformations in bodybuilding? Probably not very often since transformations tend to sell better. Time for a change! IronGangsta presents some of the greatest detransformations ever witnessed in the sport of bodybuilding. Keep in mind that there are a lot more similar stories. Sad or not this is the true bodybuilding reality very few are willing to speak of.

"How strange when an illusion dies. It's as though you've lost a child."

— Judy Garland

Mustafa Mohammad

What you observe here is a great detransformation - shaved, roided, insulin and GH loaded man detransforms into a truck driver.

Remember: to be a professional bodybuilder you need amazing genetics;

Tom Prince

Successful detransformation is successful. What happened? Rumor is he took 24 advils a day and got kidney problems.

Another success story. What happened? He forgot to take his "supplements" and train. Then Flex decided to insert some synthol into his arms and get the most retarded tattoos in order to "hide" the synthol and lack of definition caused by it. Smart moron.

Paul Dillet

Success!!! What happened? After his natural testosterone production was shut down due to steroid abuse Paul decided to carry the baby himself instead of getting a girl pregnant. Talk about relationship compromises.

Gunter Schlierkamp

What happened? The dude decided to stop taking steroids and did p90x to get shredded.

Chris Cormier

What happened? After his head got so big due to occasional growth hormone supplementation Chris Cormier was kidnapped by aliens because he was able to hear radio stations on other planets. He wasn't able to follow appropriate diet with all the macro nutrients in check in order to keep his size during his terrible stay on the planet Mars.
